CELTA Courses - Certificate in English Language Teaching to Adults

CAMBRIDGE ENGLISH
Language Assessment

Authorised Centre

Welcome to Anglo-Con

The Anglo-Continental Educational Group is one of the world's best known English language teaching organisations. It is accredited by the British Council and is a member of English UK. Anglo-Continental is also regularly inspected by the Independent Schools Inspectorate (ISI).

Anglo-Continental is an approved Training Centre for the University of Cambridge Certificate in English Language Teaching to Adults (CELTA). Full-time and part-time CELTA courses are available.

The Centre's Training Course for the Cambridge Certificate in CELTA provides pre-service training for those who wish to enter the profession and have had little or no formal training or experience.

With its careful selection process, Anglo-Continental works hard to maintain its CELTA pass rate of 98%.

For those not yet sure whether English language teaching is for them, a TEFL Taster Day can also help with decision-making, providing a glimpse of a teacher's life in a busy language school.

Professionals who want to learn more about teaching English can visit the Southern Regional Teachers' Association website

Notes

A Entry Requirements

Course participants are required:

- To be at least 18 years old on the date of commencement of the course.
- To have a standard of education which would allow entry to Higher Education in the country where they were educated - typically this would be a minimum of 2 'A' levels or equivalent.
- To have competence in English, both written and spoken, that enables them to follow the course and complete all the assessed elements successfully.
- To have an appropriate basic awareness of English language terms and concepts.

An interview with a Course Tutor will be necessary prior to acceptance. These courses are very popular and often become fully booked very quickly, therefore, if you have a preferred date for your course it is advisable for you to apply well in advance.

All participants must provide proof of identity and nationality (passport or birth certificate) at the start of the course. This includes British nationals.

B Additional Note

The full-time University of Cambridge CELTA course is highly intensive in nature and some people may find it challenging. Experience has shown that external factors of a personal nature such as illness or family issues can strongly disadvantage participants.

The part-time University of Cambridge CELTA course requires a commitment to background reading, assignments and lesson-planning.

Any disability which may affect teaching performance, such as poor hearing, MUST be mentioned at interview, as must any medical conditions which may affect your participation or that of your colleagues.

Testimonials

Luke

I was very impressed by how practical the course was and being able to get up and teach from day one really increased my confidence right from the start. The tutors were very supportive and were always there to give you new ideas. The feedback sessions were an excellent way to help us plan and improve the next lessons. Overall an incredibly intensive month, but one that really equips you with the skills needed to go into a real classroom!

Leyda

My four-week CELTA was an excellent course and I learnt a tremendous amount. It was a very intensive four-week period, yet highly enjoyable too and the tutors and fellow trainees, all working as a team, helped me to overcome moments of self-doubt.

It was a very interactive and participatory course and I was encouraged to be creative, which in turn built my confidence in the classroom. Overall it was a steep, but rewarding learning experience and it provides you with great foundations to build on as a teacher of English.

Sue

Once I had decided to qualify to teach English, I found the CELTA course to be the most widely-recognised credential, especially for travelling abroad to work. I wanted to immerse myself in study and teaching practice, so I chose the four-week full-time course. It was every bit as challenging and rewarding as I had been told. I knew Anglo-Continental to be the largest language school in the region, with an established and trusted reputation among students and teachers. From my first enquiries onwards, I found Anglo to be friendly, professional and supportive. As trainees, we built up our skills very quickly, and much was asked of us in terms of effort, time and thoroughness. Our tutors gave constantly, too; be it through input sessions, teaching which we observed, or useful and effective comments on our own development. It was the best course for me, in the best place, providing teaching tools I can use immediately.

Nigel

Returning to part-time education was for me an extremely daunting prospect. However, I found the course tutors extremely supportive and understanding of the difficulties I would and did encounter. The biggest surprise was the support so freely offered by my fellow students, it was an amazing experience. The course itself, was less pressured because it took place over four months rather than 4 weeks, thereby enabling students to really absorb the ideas and put into practice what they had been taught the day before. Assignments were well spaced out and the feedback from the tutors was both invaluable and excellent. The teaching practice was also extremely valuable and the feedback discussions after teaching from both the tutors and fellow students were positive, constructive and very encouraging. I would thoroughly recommend that anyone considering doing a CELTA course should consider the part-time course at Anglo-Continental.

Conditions of application 2016

Application

Anglo-Continental Training Courses for the Cambridge CELTA are provided in accordance with these conditions and specifications issued by the Anglo-Continental Teacher Training Centre.

The criteria for admission to the CELTA courses are as specified by the University of Cambridge, supplemented by any policy or restrictions imposed by the school. An application does not become valid until it has been confirmed in writing by Anglo-Continental.

Anglo-Continental reserves the right to cancel or withhold acceptance of an application, at its discretion, if incorrect information is supplied by or on behalf of the applicant, or if such action is deemed necessary in the interests of the applicant or Anglo-Continental.

Fees

When an application is accepted by Anglo-Continental, an invoice including Value Added Tax (VAT), if applicable, is presented together with provisional confirmation of the application. The total fees or a non-refundable deposit of £100 is payable on the participant's acceptance for the course.

If you require a visa in order to study in the UK, we strongly recommend that you apply as early as possible for your course as the application procedure may take several weeks to complete. Before issuing a visa letter, Anglo-Continental must be in receipt of a deposit of £500 (deductible when you pay your fees) or the full amount of the fees due. Before assigning a Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS) the full amount of the fees will be due unless you are government sponsored.

Should your application for a visa be refused, we will refund any published fees paid by you (after deduction of an administration charge of £100) provided that you send us a copy of the letter of refusal before the intended start date of your course. Any additional charges for services provided by a third party (such as CAS charges, hotel accommodation, flat rental and courier services) are not covered by this guarantee.

Only when the total fees have been received will a place be reserved. Payment of the total fees must be made no later than 28 days prior to the commencement of the course otherwise Anglo-Continental reserve the right to cancel, without notice, the course, accommodation and all other services. If acceptance is confirmed less than 28 days before the course commencement date, the full fees become payable immediately.

Anglo-Continental reserves the right to make fee adjustments at any time prior to receipt of payment as a result of changes in the rate of VAT or other factors beyond its control.

Cancellation, postponement and withdrawal

The number of places on teacher training courses is strictly limited. A course is not transferable but may be cancelled and full course fees will be refunded (except bank charges), provided that written notice is received by Anglo-Continental not less than four weeks before the scheduled date of course commencement. In the absence of such notice, or if less than four weeks' notice is received no refund of fees can be made.

Participants who postpone within four weeks of course commencement will incur an administration charge of £50 per postponement.

No refunds can be given in the event of withdrawal from the course after its commencement, or for late arrival, early departure, or failure to make use of any of the facilities or activities of the course.

Visas

If you require a visa, it is your responsibility to ensure that you apply for the correct type of visa to allow you to study at Anglo-Continental for the entire period of your course(s). You must ensure that all details on your confirmation documents (including the visa letter or the Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies) issued by Anglo-Continental are correct before you apply for your visa. Anglo-Continental cannot be held liable for any errors that occur during the visa application process. It is also your responsibility to continue to maintain the correct immigration status to study at Anglo-Continental for the duration of your course(s). Failure to do so may lead to termination of your studies without refund or compensation.

Attendance and Participation

Course participants are expected to attend the entire course. They cannot be considered for the award if they attend less than 80% of the course, fail to complete their teaching practice, or written assignments. Failure to attend may lead to withdrawal of the facilities of the course, and in such circumstances no refund of fees will be given.

Accommodation

The fee for the first week in homestay accommodation includes a non-refundable administration charge to cover the cost of selection, reservation and administration.

Any request to change or leave accommodation, either separately or in conjunction with the curtailment of a course, must be made to Anglo-Continental at least two weeks before the date of the proposed move and approved before the change is made. Failing this, accommodation fees are payable in lieu of notice. Accommodation fees continue to be payable for any periods of absence during the course.

Photographs and film

During our courses, we sometimes take photographs and film footage, some of which may be incorporated into future publicity material. If you do not wish to appear in any promotional publications, please advise us in writing before the start of your course.

Liability and insurance

Anglo-Continental, its Agents and staff will not be liable for any loss, damage, illness or injury to persons or property however caused, except where such liability is imposed by statute. It is the student's responsibility to take out personal insurance against all such risks, including inability to attend or continue a course and for the payment of medical expenses.

Force majeure

It shall be a fundamental condition of the contract between the trainee and Anglo-Continental or its Agents that neither Anglo-Continental nor its Agents shall be in any way liable to the student in the event of any service contracted to be supplied by them becoming impossible to supply by reason of industrial dispute or other cause outside their control.
